Formation of external equivalents for mathematical models of power systems.

Edlin M. A.

An algorithm for the formation of equivalents of external power systems adjacent to the protected power system is presented, based on current information about the circuit and power system mode.